Surgery merger will benefit town, says GP

A HAVERHILL GP says it would be the "best option" for patients if two surgeries in the town were to merge.

Dr Bamidele Sule, partner at Stourview Medical Centre, addressed residents and councillors at a full council meeting on Tuesday to answer questions about a proposed merger with Dr Selby and Partners.

Currently, patients are being asked to share their views with their practice – and the scheme has already been initially agreed by the NHS England area team and West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG).

Dr Sule said: "From my perspective I think the merger is the best option for both patients and the practices because it is very difficult for us to recruit GPs at the moment.

"We have got 14,000 patients across both practices."

Currently, Dr Sule has 4,000 patients to support as the only GP at Stourview.

A total of 10,000 patients are under the care of Dr Selby and Partners, where there are five doctors.

Stourview hopes to recruit another salaried GP after the merge, and Dr Selby's practice has two interested candidates, Dr Sule said.

Speaking at the meeting, Cllr Roger André, town mayor, praised the town's doctors for their hard work in supporting patients in difficult circumstances.

He said: "Councillors are aware that GPs are doing a good job – we are incredibly proud of the doctors here in Haverhill."

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor, also offered her support – but said that residents were searching for "reassurances" that waiting times, which can be as long as four weeks, will not get worse.

Dr Sule told the meeting that the waiting time in his practice is "a couple of days to a week" to see a doctor – and that he could not see it being as long as four weeks with five GPs in Dr Selby's surgery.

He also suggested that patients can book in to see a nurse practitioner, or another nurse, instead of a doctor.

Cllr Pat Hanlon told the meeting of his own experiences of waiting weeks to see a specific doctor – and also suggested that patients should only be allowed to book a week in advance to keep the number of missed appointments as low as possible.

Dr Sule also said that the one practice may operate out of the two existing sites because Haverhill is "going to get bigger in terms of infrastructure and people".

The consultation will run until August 31 and patients are being encouraged to share their views and contact their practice manager with any concerns.

Patients can collect a questionnaire from either surgery, or visit christmasmaltings.co.uk or stourviewmedical.com to take part.

The results of the consultation will be assessed independently.

New campaign launched for a healthier future

CAMPAIGN: Front, Hannah Clarke, Karen Davies and Chantelle Welham from Live Well Suffolk.

A LIFESTYLE campaign has been launched in Haverhill to help residents get healthy.

The Suffolk Weigh-In, launched by Live Well Suffolk, will provide practical support for those trying to lose weight.

It will encourage participants to lose five per cent of their body weight.

It runs in line with the organisation's Lose Weight With Live Well Suffolk initiative. The new programme runs, for free, from the leisure centre in Haverhill.

It is hoped that the programme will help people become healthier and reduce the risk of heart disease, strokes and type 2 diabetes.

One in three people living in Suffolk is classed as being overweight or obese.

Call Live Well Suffolk on 01473 229292 for more information or visit livewellsuffolk.org.uk.

Bouncer awarded for stopping attack

A BOUNCER has been given a bravery award for stopping three men battering their victim in the street as he lay on the ground.

The group were likened to a "pack of wild dogs" during the attack in Downing Street, Cambridge, in the early hours of August 26, kicking the 22-year-old man until Revolution bar doorman Ashley Brown stepped in.

Eli Fairbank-Harmsworth, 19, from Stoke by Clare, Jason Gange, 25, and Terry Rudhall, 19, both from Haverhill, were given eight-month prison sentences suspended for 18 months at Cambridge Crown Court after being convicted by a jury of assault occasioning actual bodily harm.

Jurors heard how victim Henry Pepperell was enjoying a night out in Cambridge with his friend Joe Bass, who was also assaulted by Rudhall, when a "friendly" conversation in the street with the defendants on the way to get food turned sour.

GARETH MCPHERSON

Ashley Brown, 25, was walking back to his car after his shift when he saw the victim being knocked to the ground and then set upon by the trio.

He said: "The attack was brutal and if I hadn't stopped them who knows what could have happened to him. I'm sure it would have been a lot worse. He was already unconscious and his breathing was difficult, he was in a bad way."

When asked if he was worried about getting hurt he said: "I had to intervene. I shouted at the head doorman to radio the police and I knew that he was there with me so I wasn't going in on my own."

Mr Brown, who lives in Cambridge and does shifts at Fez Club and Lola Lo's said it was a "shock" to get the award.

The father-to-be plans to spend his reward money on his baby.

Mr Pepperell's injuries included a "massive" lump to his forehead, cuts to the cheek, a sore jaw and "puffed up" lip, two black eyes and a bruised and grazed nose.

Judge Gareth Hawkesworth awarded Mr Brown the Sheriffs' Award and £450 for stepping in, saying he was "greatly impressed by his public spiritedness".

The three men were each told to pay £250 court costs and £250 compensation to the victim.

Rudhall was given an extra month for the assault by beating on Mr Bass, which runs concurrently. Gange, who has previous convictions, must also do 200 hours unpaid work in the community.

Lawyers for the defendants said their clients wished they could "turn back time" and had learnt "harsh and painful" lessons.

Amendment to brownfield site motion rejected by councillors

AN AMENDMENT to a motion calling for brownfield sites to be used for affordable homes has been refused by councillors.

Cllr Sandra Gage, Suffolk County councillor and borough councillor for Rushmere, Ipswich, proposed an amendment to a motion presented earlier this month.

Cllrs Tony Brown and Julian Flood, who represent Haverhill, proposed that brownfield sites across Suffolk be used for affordable housing.

In an amendment, Cllr Gage proposed that brownfield sites should be available for sale, at an appropriate price, to developers, including borough and district councils, with viable schemes for housing.

These developers must maximise the provision of affordable housing. The sites could also be used for industrial development to maximise the creation of local employment, she added.

Fourteen councillors voted in favour of Cllr Gage's amendment, with 43 against.

As previously reported, Cllrs Brown Flood's motion was also refused at the meeting on July 17.

Cllr Gage, who is also deputy portfolio holder for housing at Ipswich Borough Council, said: "The real loss if, of course, the unique opportunity we have now - to re-use county council brownfield land for district councils to build good quality, affordable homes."

"Suffolk County Council should acknowledge it has a duty to release council owned land for re-use responsibly, so we can invest in houses, as well as skills, and in doing so enable local people to have jobs and homes."

Views still sought for town centre masterplan

PLANNING for the future of the town centre has started – with residents encouraged to share their views.

Haverhill's town centre masterplan, which is being worked on by ONE Haverhill, has started taking shape – with groups being appointed to deal with tasks.

At the town council meeting on Tuesday, the public were encouraged to think big and share their views for the future.

John Mayhew, Haverhill Chamber of Commerce member, said that the first step is taking over empty shop windows in the town centre with a brand.

Other suggestions included clearer signage for the town centre, to direct visitors to the High Street, and better directions to parking facilities.

Concerns were also raised about footfall on Queen Street and how bigger shops and brands can be attracted to the town centre.

Calls were also made for the bus station to have real time passenger information, and for more frequent continental markets.

Raising money in memory of Vera Jewell

A MUCH-loved woman is going to be celebrated with a fundraiser in her memory.

The event is to honour Vera Jewell – who used to help out with the town's Macmillan World's Biggest Coffee Morning events, held in Queens Square each year.

Mrs Jewell, whose family firm Jewell Windows was in the square, died in hospital in May after suffering from a brain bleed.

She had previously battled leukaemia, and was given the all clear in March.

The fundraiser, to be called Vera's Day, will raise money for the leukaemia and neurology wards at Addenbrooke's, where she was treated.

Debbie Rawlings, of Cuts Unlimited, has been organising the event with other businesses in the square.

She said: "We wanted to do this for Vera and make it a family event."

"All of the people in Queens Square are helping out and we are all working together to raise as much money as possible."

Guests can enjoy teas, coffees and other refreshments as well as browsing a wide range of stalls which will be set up on the day.

There will also be children's games and other entertainment and a raffle. The team are hoping to get other performers for the day too.

Debbie added: "We hope that a lot of people will come along on the day."

The event is on August 23 from 10am until the afternoon.

Macmillan events usually take place in September but the team decided to move their fundraiser forward by a month.

The Macmillan event will return to town next year.

IN MEMORY: Vera Jewell

New PCSO for the High Street to start soon

A DEDICATED officer for Haverhill High Street is due to start work in September.

County councillors Tony Brown, Julian Flood and Anne Gower have contributed £5,000 each from their locality budgets to pay for the PCSO.

The new officer will have all the powers of a traffic warden, including stopping cars travelling down the High Street outside of allowed times, and ticketing those who park illegally.

Cllr Brown said: "Hopefully having the officer will make a difference – we want to make the High Street a much more pleasant environment. That's what it's all about."

If the PCSO's presence improves the parking situation on the High Street, it is hoped that the officer will be able to work on other issues in the area, such as shoplifting.

The officer will also have a number of performance indicators, Cllr Brown said, and figures will be received on a regular basis.

Town could benefit from 'handyman'

GRAFFITI, dirty signs and broken bins across town could be taken care of by a new town employee.

Councillors have discussed the possibility of getting a parish handyman – after the idea was proposed by ONE Haverhill.

The employee would be responsible for taking care of small scale repair work, as well as stepping in to carry out jobs which should be done by other local authorities.

They would be on hand to support the town's community ambassador project.

Town clerk Colin Poole came to Haverhill from Exmouth in June, where the council employed its own handyman.

He said: "It is all about civic pride and trying to improve the town."

"The handyman did things like remove green slime from bus stops, street signs and road signs and small repairs."

"It's all small scale stuff but it means they have got the equipment and know how. Because we are employing them, we can direct where they go."

Having a parish handyman to keep the town centre clean and tidy would also make it more attractive to potential businesses and visitors, Mr Poole said.

"People will enjoy coming to the High Street because it looks good," he added.

"When shops come to look, they will see a really nice town – you have got to make it a nice place before the shops we want will come along."

Councillors expressed their concerns about cost – and asked who would be in charge of the handyman's employment.

It is thought that all stakeholders who would benefit from the scheme should pay a portion towards it.

Speaking at the meeting,

Cllr Betty McLatchy said it "shouldn't be necessary" to have a handyman, and that those who are paid to complete these jobs will "get away with not doing it".

Cllr David Roach also said it was "a good idea in principle" – but feared it would be difficult to find the money in the town council budget.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor, added that she was "not opposed" to having a parish handyman, but that councillors and residents alike already pay a lot of money in taxes which should keep the town tidy.

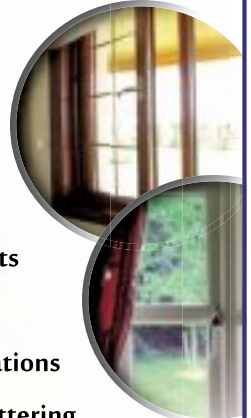

The idea needs to be looked at "extremely carefully", she added.

A number of the councillors expressed their support for the scheme – but the cost is to be assessed before any further decision is made.

Children's centres in Haverhill could merge

TWO children's centres across Haverhill could merge into one service.

Suffolk County Council is currently holding a consultation on children's centres across the county – with plans to merge some services or change the way they are run to save costs.

Speaking at Haverhill Town Council on Tuesday, Cllr Tony Brown said there are plans to combine the On Track Centre, in Strassbourg Square, with the Cartwheels Centre on the Clements Estate.

The new service would run from the Cartwheels Centre.

Cllr Brown, along with fellow county councillors for Haverhill Julian Flood and Anne Gower, is opposed to the plan.

He said: "Cartwheels is a mile away as the crow flies – but it takes 15 minutes in the car."

"They say that they will put a service of sorts in the Chalkstone Community Centre – but that is not acceptable to us as we do not think the service will be as good."

"We think that vulnerable mums and children may lose out."

Flats evacuated in late night fire in town centre

NATALIE ROBINSON

POLICE officers in Haverhill have been praised for their bravery and quick-thinking after they broke into a block of flats and evacuated residents when they spotted a fire.

While the officers were attending another incident in the area, they spotted thick black smoke coming from the building in Drake's Yard off Queen Street at about 12.50am.

The officers rushed to the flats and broke into the building, evacuating the residents inside.

A spokesman for Suffolk Fire and Rescue said two men, who were evacuated from the flat where the fire is believed to have started, were taken to hospital with smoke inhalation. Another man had burns on his chest.

Both men were taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital but their conditions were not thought to be life threatening.

Haverhill Arts Centre was opened shortly after 3.30am to be used as emergency accommodation.

Ben Prickett, technical assistant, received the call from St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Colin Poole, town clerk, confirmed that three people stayed there for part of Saturday before returning home.

The Arts Centre is just one of the places listed in Haverhill for emergency accommodation. The leisure centre can also be used.

Chief Inspector Kim Warner, policing commander for St Edmundsbury and Forest Heath has praised the officers.

She said: "This could have been a potentially tragic incident which was averted

FIRE: The block of flats was evacuated thanks to the quick actions of our officers.

"After seeing the smoke coming from the building they forced their way into the block, alerted the occupants of the flats and ensured everyone was evacuated safely.

"I commend everyone involved for their great bravery in this incident, which is a great example of the different ways in which our officers respond to protect members of the public.

"I am really proud of each and every one of them."

Crews from Haverhill and Linton were called to the fire in the second-floor flat and used two hose reels and a covering jet to fight the blaze.

A spokesman for the fire service said: "The incident was under control by 2.11am.

"Two persons were treated for smoke inhalation and were conveyed to hospital."

An investigation into the fire is still ongoing.

Vacant town centre hotel could house shop and flats in new plan

A FORMER hotel and public house could become the site for more than 10 new homes.

The Bell Hotel, on Haverhill High Street closed in November last year.

Now, the vacant building could be given a new lease of life as home to a retail unit and 11 flats.

Plans for the development have been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

The application is from Sam Berg, of London.

A design statement explained that some of the flats will be created from the existing buildings, while others will be new builds.

A new courtyard will also be created as part of the proposal – with eight parking spaces becoming available instead of the existing four.

The statement added: "The proposed development has been carefully considered to bring a sustainable, mixed use to a town centre brown-field site.

"The use mix is considered appropriate for the location, and appropriate for the conversion aspect of the scheme given the existing building size."

One objection, from Jason Crooks, of Pound Green, has been sent to the borough council so far.

Mr Crooks was objecting on the grounds that the development "will damage the look of the conservation area".

Better shops please!

IN response to the “Think big” regarding Haverhill. Let’s have some decent shops like a Next for example... it would save lots of time, fuel and wear and tear on roads having to drive into Bury or Cambridge. I’m fed up with hearing people moaning about the state of our town, when we all know it could look so much better and smarter! The people who live in Haverhill are brilliant and we deserve better, decent shops!
Marilyn Humphries
Haverhill

Here’s my vision . . .

I WOULD like you to consider this view of Queen Street. It could be totally pedestrianised simply by putting a small connecting road through The Bull car park and adjoining the road already in place serving the car park, exiting onto the Cangle Junction. The Bull garden is easily big enough for one if not two-way traffic. This access would also help the traffic problem in Crowland Road when Queen Street is shut 10-4. My vision is also for a cover system as in the Rookery in Newmarket, allowing year-round street trading. Plus remove the hideous parking and frightening cars passing pedestrians which has been complained about in letters in the Weekly News.
D Sizer
Haverhill

An apology, please

OPEN letter to Cllr John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council:
YOU will recall that I was not permitted the right of reply following your address to full council on the petition submitted on behalf of the Haverhill community. I advised then that I would respond in writing to the issues raised and the outrageous slurs you targeted at the Haverhil community. It is particularly offensive, and demeaning that you have accused the Haverhill community of ‘carping on’ about funding which is clearly being withheld improperly, and outrageous that you have suggested residents should be grateful to have their rubbish collected. In subsequent letters to the press you have further insulted the community by stating that Haverhill Town Council has no place in representing the views of the residents. Your assertion that the funds ‘are not yours or ours’ is only half correct – the funds are not for the Borough Council but they certainly are for the Town Council to be used to mitigate the change in the tax base. Over 2,500 people from our community have petitioned the Borough Council to reinstate the funds withheld from our allocation and the Town Councillors, from all political groups, are representing that view from our community. When you dismiss the legitimacy of our Councillors to represent their electorate you also dismiss your own legitimacy. In his written statement, on 5th February 2014, the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, Brandon Lewis, clearly stated: ‘We have also set out previously that there is some £3.3 billion in the settlement this year for council tax support schemes. There is an element within this national pot that is there specifically to reflect reductions in the parish tax base.’ In the same statement he went on to say: ‘But we have been clear that we expect billing authorities to carry on passing on support to town councils and parishes to help mitigate any reduction in their tax base due to the local council tax support scheme.’ It is abundantly clear that the level of funding assumed in the spending power calculations is unchanged for 2014/15 and for 2015/16. The expectation that funding would be ‘passportd’ to town and parish councils is apparent from the written statement above and from your discussions with Brandon Lewis. Your persistent denials, and those of Cllr Ray, that the sums are not identified have not been sustainable since late last year. That you both continue to assert these misleading facts is an affront to local democracy and calls into doubt your personal integrity. The complete omission of any papers to support the argument for rejecting the petition request indicates the utter lack of any proper consideration of this matter. Both you and Cllr Ray are continuing to obscure the issue with irrelevant catalogues of historic expenditure in Haverhill and completely overlooking the substantive issue. Upon the presentation of the petition the Council had the opportunity, under Part 4c of the Rules of Procedure, to: ‘commission further investigation into the matter, for example by referring it to a relevant committee’. The motion, tabled by Cllr Ray, at the meeting was clearly constructed prior to any consideration of the arguments supporting the petition and implies a conspiracy by the majority group to subvert the outcome. Our community deserves a full and explicit apology for the insults and patronising manner inherent in your response to their petition. Both you and Cllr Ray should now explain why you misled the Borough Councillors, and have continued to do so, and what you now propose to do to remedy the loss of funding which imposed an unavoidable precept increase.

Cllr Maureen Byrne
On behalf of the Haverhill Community

Come and talk to us
Dear Councillor Griffiths:
Over the last few weeks I’ve read your letters in the Weekly News, and I’m afraid I find them rather patronising and not befitting of someone who holds the position of Council Leader. In your letters you point out the investment which Haverhill has received over the last few years such as the cinema, sporting facilities etc and wonder why we’re all not doffing our caps in thanks, so I’ll try to explain... Our much loved Leisure Centre was refurbished five years ago, with a new reception area, fitness studios, gym, changing rooms, but it wasn’t to quite the same high specification as Bury Leisure Centre, and the only reason the

New Croft is such a success is because the Chairman at the time wouldn’t accept the inferior plans which Bury St Edmunds originally submitted. And what’s the big deal with the cinema then? Haverhill has a population of 27,000 which is rapidly increasing, why shouldn’t we have a cinema? You built us a ‘Plaza’, so we can sit outside Frankie and Bennys and Prezzo’s and watch the cars go by, (usually to Cambridge or Bury) but it really it needs a fountain to give it that authentic Italian feel. You also talk about the investment that’s gone into Jubilee Walk and I’m still wondering about that. What exactly is it in Jubilee Walk that we have to be thankful for? As far as I know the only thing Jubilee Walk is renowned for, is the the very large and increasingly dilapidated empty Co-op building. Are you responsible for that? You’re even disappointing our children. We’re told that improvements are to be made to the Recreation Ground, but the plans showed that there will only one, possibly two pieces of new play equipment, and the old equipment will simply be moved from one position to another. Thats not very exciting for them is it? So you can see that those things which you think Haverhill should be grateful for, we think are mostly inferior or inadequate, but what really gripes us is that we know that you’re capable of higher standards, because we see it when we visit the Abbey Gardens, The Apex, and top of the list, Bury’s Shopping Centre, with its ‘glamorous bars, gourmet dining and chic shops’ (quoted from Bury St Edmunds tourist information site). Our town centre is in decline Councillor Griffiths, how about allowing free parking on Saturdays to encourage people to use our street market and the few shops we do have, and then we may be grateful for the investment in the Cleales car park. We’d also be grateful if you could pull a few strings and help us get some public transport to and from West Suffolk Hospital, as we don’t have any at the moment. Your letter printed on July 17th speaks of us working together, and that would imply an equal partnership, but at the present time it seems that some are more equal than others, as Haverhill is clearly a poor relation. So, Councillor Griffiths, if you have something to say, don’t send letters from Bury, come to Haverhill and discuss these matters with us. I’m sure arrangements can be made for you to visit our Town Hall Arts Centre for a chat – we would look forward it. But in the meantime our message to you is not only do we deserve more but also ‘you should do better’.

Housing: action needed
AN Open Letter to Councillor Jenny Antill, Cabinet Member for Resource Management and Waste. Suffolk County Council:
On 17th July, UKIP proposed a motion to Suffolk County Council to encourage the release of brownfield land, making it easier for developers and housing associations to provide starter homes in Suffolk. As Cabinet Member for Resources this falls within your area of policy. We realised how pressing the problems of home provision have become in Suffolk when Havebury Housing Association applied to build on garages and parking spaces in Haverhill, squeezing more people into areas that are already full. UKIP fought those particular applications and we will continue to fight them on behalf of our residents. Suffolk has failed in the provision of social and affordable housing. Urgent action is required. The UKIP motion was intended to provoke cross-party discussion, and to tap the wisdom of the whole council. It didn’t turn out like that. Perhaps you were as astonished as we when the Labour group first attempted to hijack our motion by changing a few words, trying to make it theirs and, when this tactic failed they voted against. Their decision deserves to be widely publicised – housing provision is in crisis and, rather than co-operate with UKIP, the Suffolk Labour group was apparently under instruction to vote No; to oppose a motion designed to improve the lives of hard-pressed young families desperate for alternatives to the high-priced private rental sector. Labour’s hypocrisy is breathtaking. We were not surprised to see the Lib Dems meekly following their lead, bankrupt of any policies of their own other than a desire to be elected at any cost, and we note without comment that the Greens didn’t bother to turn up. Suffolk owns brownfield land which it holds to sell to the highest bidder. If we were a business then this would be good business practice, but we are not: we have been elected to improve the quality of life of our residents. Suffolk County Council should, as a matter of urgency:

1. Identify brownfield sites that can be developed quickly for social housing and industrial development.
2. Engage with other landowners, e.g St Edmundsbury Borough Council, whose landholdings could contribute to rapid and low-cost development.
3. Apply to the Secretary of State for Education for old school sites to be released for development.
4. Build SCC-owned council houses on SCC land
5. Campaign for a change in Government Policy so that 100% of Right to Buy income be returned to SCC for further house building
The matter is urgent. We need action now. There is a developing theme here... local government is failing: our roads are a crumbling disgrace; waiting times for GP appointments stretch to weeks; the mix of free, foundation and county schools makes improving school standards an almost impossible task; our towns are asked to accept huge over-development with Section 106 funding lag meaning that problems will build up before the infrastructure is there to deal with them. Joined up Central Government, Borough and County effort is needed. We can’t go on like this. The current policies on low cost and social housing are not failing: they have failed. It is time to address that failure.

Town's French twin pays a visit

VISITORS from France arrived in Haverhill to celebrate the summer.

A group of residents from Pont-Saint-Esprit, one of Haverhill's twin towns, spent a fun-filled few days in Suffolk learning about the region.

Greeted by town mayor Cllr Roger André on arrival, the group attended the Summer Bash, Kedington Open Gardens and also enjoyed trips out to Cambridge and London.

The guests were also treated to a buffet supper and dancing at the town's Arts Centre.

Members of the Haverhill Twin Town Association will also visit Pont-Saint-Esprit in 2015.

Elaine McManus, president, said: "Thanks to all the hosts, the members of the association and special thanks to the committee for making this another memorable trip to our wonderful town."

If you would like to join, contact Elaine on 01440761018.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Pensioner suffers facial injuries

A WOMAN in her 80s was treated for facial injuries after a fall.

The East Anglian Air Ambulance was sent to Haverhill on Monday afternoon.

The patient was treated by Rob Elias and Tim Daniels, critical care paramedics, before being taken to Addenbrooke's by land ambulance.

Summer fete next month

THE Befriending Scheme in Haverhill is holding its summer fete.

The event is taking place on August 22 at the Chalkstone Centre, in Strasbourg Square. Running from 10.30am, there will be a variety of stalls including cakes, crafts and games.

Entry is free, and all proceeds will go towards the Befriending Scheme.

Golfer shows who's the boss

ANOTHER golfer from Haverhill has scored a hole-in-one.

Simon Cousins, 59, has been rewarded with a limited edition BOSS watch after his achievement at Haverhill Golf Club.

The company gave away £600,000 worth of watches in 2013 to players who scored a hole-in-one.

Those who succeed will also get membership for the BOSS Watches H1 Club.

Stephen Brydon, commercial director for MGS Distribution, the official licenced UK distributor for BOSS Watches, said: "Congratulations to Simon on achieving golf's Holy Grail of a hole-in-one."

"The exclusive BOSS watch is available only to golfers who record a hole-in-one."

"It will provide a constant reminder of the achievement and also help to ensure they're never late for a tee-time again."

Help council save £1.5m

RESIDENTS are being given the chance to help council chiefs decide how and where they should make more than £1 million in savings.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council needs to save a further £1.5 million in 2015/16.

The authority has now launched a budget consultation which is asking residents for their views on a range of options that will help inform councillors when they make their budget decisions later

The consultation asks some specific questions, with indications of the potential money saved, or new income generated.

These include questions relating to the use of volunteers in parks and heritage services, as well as possibilities for changes at Haverhill bus station.

John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, said: "We do not wish to see services disappear or compromise on quality – but the harsh reality is that they may have to be different in the future."

"We have already made savings of £3.5 million per year by joining up our services with Forest Heath but need to reduce our budget for 2015/16 by a further £1.5 million."

"That means difficult decisions will have to be made and we are keen to ensure both that they are considered carefully and that there are no nasty surprises."

"I should stress that no decisions have yet been made – these are just some ideas for possible consideration."

Questionnaires are being posted through doors across the borough but people can also take part by visiting www.stedmundsbury.gov.uk/budgetsurvey2014.

Alternatively, visit the council offices at Haverhill House.

Adam's in running for YOPEY award

A TEENAGER, who has counselled more than 100 victims of bullying, is in the running for a prestigious award.

Adam Olivant of Shetland Road, Haverhill, has been nominated for a Cambridgeshire Young People of the Year award (YOPEY).

The teenager, who attends Long Road Sixth Form College, set up an anti-bullying group after years of being bullied himself.

Adam, who said his "life was made hell" by bullies, was nominated by Julie White, his student supervisor.

She said: "Adam has taken his experience of bullying at school and turned it into something very positive."

"Helping so many other young people in supporting and advising them when they are in crisis."

As well as studying at college, Adam, 18, also works at Cambridge University Hospitals in the pathology department – but he still finds time to mentor for the Beat Bullying Group and Gay Straight Alliance.

NOMINATED: Adam Olivant

An awards ceremony for the YOPEYs will take place later this year – with the top prize of £800 to be shared by the winner and a good cause of their choice.

'Positive' news from the estates

BIG Conversation events hosted by Havebury Housing Partnership have revealed positive views about Haverhill's estates.

The housing provider held two drop-in sessions across the Chalkstone and Clements estates on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Residents were invited to share their grievances with staff – and also suggest improvements that they would like to see in the area.

One couple had been living on the Clements Estate for 50 years, Philip Sullivan, director of operations, said, and had no complaints to share.

"People are loving living on the estate, and a lot of the tenants we have spoken to today are very pleased," he added.

A number of the concerns raised with Havebury staff during the sessions, which ran from 10am until 2pm, related to problems with roads and paths running through the estates.

Though these cannot be dealt with by Havebury, the housing provider will feed them back directly to Suffolk County Council, Mr Sullivan added.

He said: "There were some queries about communal painting and about work to kitchens and bathrooms."

"Those who have had them done up already are pleased."

Work to tenants' kitchens and bathrooms is scheduled to take place later this year.

On the Chalkstone Estate, concern was expressed about the current garage facilities – with one person calling for some of the garages to be demolished, so the remaining ones can be extended.

Now, results gathered during the events will be collated – and there is the potential for telephone surveys to be carried out – to decide how resources will be spent.

Mr Sullivan added: "We really appreciate the time residents have taken to let us have their views."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Fire at Rose and Crown Hotel

A FIRE ripped through the roof of a Haverhill hotel on Friday.

At just before 9pm, firefighters were called to the Rose and Crown Hotel on Withersfield Road.

Two crews from Haverhill and a crew from Cambridge were sent to the incident and found a part of the building and its roof was on fire.

A further crew from Clare, a crew from Linton and a command unit and support pump from Ixworth were mobilised.

The fire was found to be in the roof space and used two breathing apparatus and two hose reels to fight the flames.

The fire was under control by 10.08pm.

Van fire spreads to bushes

A VAN, which caught fire on Saturday, spread to nearby bushes and trees.

Fire crews were called to Ladygate, Haverhill, shortly before 2pm.

A hosereel was used to extinguish the blaze, which was brought under control by crews at around 2.15pm.

The fire is being investigated, but no casualties were reported.

New equipment for hospital

A STATE-of-the-art ultrasound machines has been installed at West Suffolk Hospital.

The equipment, which cost £35,000, was bought following a donation from the hospital's Friends group.

As a result, rheumatology patients will get an earlier diagnosis and quicker treatment.

Dr Shweta Bhagat, consultant rheumatologist, said: "We are very grateful to the Friends for funding this important piece of equipment."

Several types of arthritis and other musculoskeletal conditions will be diagnosed with the machine.

Sisters to walk the walk for mum

THE kindness of a hospice towards one of its patients has inspired two sisters to fundraise.

Michelle Roake, of Haverhill, and sister Alison Crane are embarking on the Girls Night Out, organised by St Nicholas Hospice Care.

The charity cared for the women's mother, Joy, after she was diagnosed with gall bladder cancer in 2008. She was with the hospice for two weeks before her death.

Michelle said: "The hospice made those days really special. I remember her saying they were treating her like a queen."

The sisters will take part in the event, on September 13 in Bury St Edmunds, as 'Team Joy'.

'Bedroom tax' hitting rural areas

RURAL communities are being hit by the 'bedroom tax' the hardest.

JORDAN DAY

That's the message from Action with Communities in Rural England (ACRE) – the national body of Cambridgeshire ACRE – which is repeating its call for the Government to scrap the charge in settlements of fewer than 3,000 people as a minimum.

The charity has spoken out in the wake of a report by Ipsos MORI and the Cambridge Centre for Housing and Planning Research, which presents early findings from the evaluation of the removal of the spare room subsidy.

The under-occupation charge or 'bedroom tax', which cuts the benefits of tenants of working age in homes deemed to have spare rooms, came into force in April last year.

ACRE, the national voice for England's network of rural community councils, maintains that a shortage of one and two-bedroom homes in the countryside means rural tenants have no choice but to move into towns and cities or fall into debt if they cannot make up the rent shortfall.

The report said that 47 per cent of landlords said they had seen an increase in rent arrears since the introduction of the charge.

Kirsten Bennett, chief executive of Cambridgeshire ACRE, said: "These findings were inevitable. The 'bedroom tax' takes no account of the challenges rural tenants face."

"Research shows it costs £2,800 a year more to live in the countryside than it does in a city and this tax has impacted on those already struggling with the high cost of living in rural areas."

"We are backing ACRE's call to the Government to exclude settlements of fewer than 3,000 people as a minimum from this unfair tax on some of the most vulnerable people in rural communities."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tim Law feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, in any type of year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Haverhill, Cambridge, Ely, Saffron Walden, Royston &

Newmarket areas and Tim is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.' So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tim a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

DETERMINED: Kylie Fulton with her daughter Eva

Pictures: Keith Heppell

In spite of being born with a raft of health issues ranging from a cleft palate to sight and hearing loss, little Eva Fulton is defying expectations – and living life to the full. Emma Higginbotham reports.

ON PAPER, Eva Fulton's health issues look devastating.

The little girl was born just over a year ago with Pierre Robin Sequence (PRS) – a recessed chin and cleft palate – and Stickler syndrome, which can lead to sight and hearing loss as well as mobility problems. In fact Eva's mum Kylie was told that her daughter might struggle to walk.

So it's a surprise (and an absolute delight) when Kylie opens the door of their St Neots home and Eva comes running up to me, pretty as a picture in her summery dress. And although she's likely to have health problems throughout her life, so far the only sign is a pair of natty pink glasses that frame her beautiful blue eyes.

Eva's an inquisitive little thing too, grabbing my pen, exploring my notebook, even picking up my handbag and heading off for a walk, mummy-style. "She's a monkey," says Kylie, rolling her eyes. "She's very clever – and very cheeky!"

All children are special to their parents, but for Kylie, Eva is even more of a blessing as she and husband Peter didn't think they'd be able to have a baby.

"I'm very maternal," says Kylie, who's 28. "I was a nursery nurse since I left school; that's all I've ever done. But I was told that I had polycystic ovaries, and probably wouldn't conceive naturally, so I was very upset and down about it."

There were further complications when Kylie's periods stopped, and an MRI scan revealed a serious problem: "They found out I had a tumour on my adrenal gland, which is what controls all your hormones – and I was told the tumour was likely to be cancerous."

Kylie had the tumour removed in 2012. Happily it was benign, and the good news didn't stop there: by August she was pregnant.

The couple were delighted, but knew that there was a chance that their longed-for baby could have health issues. Peter himself was born with PRS, "and at my 20-week scan they were worried because they couldn't see the jaw," Kylie admits that it troubled her, "but I tried not to let it get to me; if you look at Pete now, he looks like Desperate Dan with his chin!"

At a 4D scan, doctors were able to take a good look at Eva's face, "and her chin was small – but it was there."

Eva was born at Hinchingsbrooke Hospital last May: "She was in a very awkward position and ended up getting jammed, so I had to have an emergency C-section," recalls Kylie. "But that was OK; I was just eager to meet her and get her here safely."

"Afterwards, the consultant came in and told us about her cleft palate. I was still tired and a bit dazed, but it didn't seem like anything major. A lot of babies are born with a lot worse, so we just felt lucky that she was here and in one piece."

Having a cleft palate (a hole in the roof of her mouth) meant that Eva had to be tube-fed for three weeks, "and at first I felt like I'd let her down: I wasn't there when she first came into the world – I was out for the count – and I couldn't breastfeed her. But I know in the long run it's what was best for her."

At eight months old, Eva had a four-hour operation to repair her palate at Addenbrooke's Hospital. For Kylie, it was a tough time. "Seeing her put to sleep was the worst thing in the world. It was awful, because she started fighting it, and I was crying."

"And I'm at home with her all the time, so that was one of the longest periods I've been away from her. We'd been given a pager, and as soon as it went off I was like 'Quick, let's go!'" says Kylie, miming running. "We went to Recovery, and it was shock, because she was still a bit gunky and scabby and bloody around the nose, but the doctor said it had gone well."

The next issue to tackle was the fact that Eva had Stickler syndrome, which is often connected with PRS. A hereditary condition affecting the collagen gene, symptoms – which vary in severity – can include sight and hearing loss as well as hypermobility (very loose joints).

Eva was diagnosed after seeing a geneticist, who picked up on several tell-tale features: "She has a flat nasal bridge, and the whites of her eyes have a blue tinge to them," says Kylie. "I didn't notice until he pointed it out."

"When we first got the Stickler's Diagnosis I felt quite down. It was just the uncertainty. Everyone wants their baby to be healthy, so I was worrying about what sort of quality of life she'll have."

"The main thing is the joints. They said she might struggle to walk because she's hypermobile, but she took her first steps at 11-and-a-half months! She is very flexible, though. If I'm walking along holding her hand and she trips, sometimes her arm twists right round and I'm like 'Oh no!' But it doesn't seem to bother her at all."

"When she gets older she might not be able to walk long distances, because of pains in her joints, but at the moment it doesn't seem to be stopping her."

Another major worry with Stickler syndrome is that the retina can become detached from the back of the eye "which, if it's not picked up early enough, can lead to loss of sight," says Kylie. "I do get a bit nervous sometimes, and if she's rubbing her eye excessively I'm like 'Oh no, has something happened?!' But we've been given an SOS number for the eye clinic at Hinchbrook."

However Eva does have vision issues: she's extremely short-sighted and has particularly poor sight in her right eye. "She's had her new glasses for a week, and we get a lot of stares, but we've had nothing but people saying how cute she looks," says Kylie with a relieved smile. "I think I'm on alert and ready to jump down someone's throat if they say anything bad! But all the comments have been positive."

The little girl has also been plagued with hearing problems throughout her short life, and will soon have to have hearing aids fitted. "When she was born she had severe glue ear, which was causing hearing loss, and when she had her cleft palate repaired they did grommets, but they haven't helped at all," explains Kylie.

"I don't notice it at home, because she responds to me one-on-one, but if we go to groups and there's a lot more background noise, she doesn't."

"But I don't know how much of that is selective hearing because she's busy doing things," she says, adding "Don't you go behind that TV, Eva Fulton!" as, on cue, her mischievous daughter starts exploring the household electrics.

Because one thing is clear: although she has physical difficulties, mentally there's absolutely nothing wrong with this inquisitive young lady. "We've been told that her cognitive development is ahead of what it should be," says Kylie. "And she's so quick! The other day I was doing the laundry and put a couple of tea towels on the clothes airer, so she went and got the tea towel that's hanging in the kitchen and put it on the clothes airer too. She's so good at making connections and understanding things."

"The only thing she is behind with is her speech, but I'm not worried about it because she's getting all the help she needs. All babies are different anyway; she's her own little person and she'll do things when she's ready."

Does she worry that Eva might be teased in the future?

"I do, but I suppose every parent has that worry about bullying. She's got a lot of family around her and I know that she'll always feel loved and supported."

And, adds Kylie, she tries not to mollycoddle her: "I tend to take a back seat. If we go to groups or to the park, she has no fear; she just goes toddling off, don't you?" she says, stroking Eva's shiny blonde hair. "I want to let her have the confidence, and I don't want her to feel that I'm always there going 'Don't do this, don't do that.'"

There's no denying that life isn't easy. Eva has to have hospital appointments every month with specialists ranging from speech therapists and paediatricians to audiologists and Stickler consultants, and they don't yet know how severely her health will be affected in the future.

But Kylie isn't fazed – nor is she discounting a second baby. "We've been told that if we had another child, there's a one in two chance that they would have it. But it doesn't put me off having another. There's so many worse things, and just look at her!" she laughs. "She's amazing."

So what would her advice be to a new parent who may be feeling overwhelmed by a medical diagnosis they weren't expecting? "Just try and take each day at a time," says Kylie. "And don't Google it! You always get the worse-case scenarios, and it's not always helpful because every case is different. If I'd Googled Stickler's, I'd have had her down as blind, not walking, not able to do anything!"

"I was worried about the future, but then I just look at her... And I know every parent probably gushes about how their child amazes them, but she does. Despite everything that she's had thrown at her, she's a normal, happy toddler – and getting into all sorts of mischief. Whatever the future holds, we'll cross those bridges when we come to them."

GENEROUS: Sarah Lennon, from the BHF, collects the cheque from Samuel Ward Academy.

Samuel Ward raises £500 for heart charity

THE UK's leading heart charity has been given a £500 boost thanks to kind-hearted youngsters.

Students from Samuel Ward Academy raised the generous sum for the British Heart Foundation (BHF) by collecting theirs and their family's unwanted clothing for recycling.

Sarah Lennon, a BHF representative, visited the school to collect the cheque. A school spokeswoman said: "Students wanted to show their appreciation for equipment the British Heart Foundation provided the school for use in first aid training."

Haverhill's BHF shop, in High Street, offers a free collection service for donations that can be booked by calling 0800 9153000, and is looking for more volunteers.

Neighbour hits out at plan to build houses

PLANS to build houses and cottages on land near to a Haverhill street have sparked anger from residents.

Up to nine new homes, and associated parking, have been proposed for land off Bumpstead Road, Haverhill.

The application, entered by Kenneth Dobinson, of Bumpstead Road, outlines plans for four two-bedroom cottages and five three-bedroom houses.

Some will be semi-detached, and some detached.

The site is mostly made up of a rear garden and garage area, belonging to 21 Bumpstead Road.

An access route, leading from Bumpstead Road and running down the side of number 21, will also be improved.

Environmental health have not objected to the proposal – but Kevan Millar, who also lives on Bumpstead Road, has said the new build will "devalue" his home.

Mr Millar has only lived at his current address for a few weeks.

In his objection, sent to St Edmundsbury Borough Council, he said: "We note that a roadway enters this development from Bumpstead Road, runs down the eastern side of our house coming within a 1.5 metres of our bathroom, toilet and bedroom and considerably less in places nearer Bumpstead Road."

The development would run down the complete length and across the back of his property, he said.

If planning permission is granted, the development would also make living in his house "unbearable", Mr Millar added.

The site is to the south east of the town centre, and has been left as a portion of "undeveloped land".

Visit stedmundsbury.gov.uk to view the full plans and to submit your views.

Nominate your emergency heroes

NOMINATIONS are being sought for the Fire and Emergency Awards 2014, which are set to highlight the hidden heroes of the emergency services.

The awards, launched by FIRE magazine, are asking residents to get their nominations in for people in the local area who should be recognised in their emergency service field.

A spokesperson said: "The awards will provide much needed recognition to those who have made a real difference."

Seven categories are available.

To enter someone you know, send a description of the person or team and why you think they deserve the award to rachel.langdon@pavpub.com.

Entries must be received by tomorrow, Thursday July 31. For more information, call 01273 434960.

AWARD WINNERS: Daniel and Robin Pilley collected two prizes on the night.

Letting agents scoops awards

AWARD-winning letting agents, CXG, have brought more gongs back to Haverhill.

The firm won two prizes at this year's Times property awards, for Letting Agent and Property Management, meaning they have now scooped Gold, Silver and Bronze gongs.

The scheme is the only dedicated awards for the lettings agency industry and more than 500 agents from across the UK attended the glitzy ceremony at The Lancaster London Hotel.

The winners were presented with their awards by Katie Piper, the best-selling author, inspirational speaker, TV presenter and charity campaigner who has rebuilt her life after surviving a brutal attack in which she had sulphuric acid thrown in her face, with renowned journalist, author and newsreader Penny Smith acting as compere.

Directors and co-owners of CXG, Daniel and Robin Pilley, said "We are very proud of our continuing success.

"We have now won eight awards in four years – a reflection of the dedication of our team in delivering customer service to the highest standard.

"It is a huge sense of achievement when this is recognised by the Industry in this manner."

The awards ceremony was the culminating event of a rigorous judging process by a panel of 21 industry experts who assessed initial entry submissions before conducting an extensive review of the entrants, which included over 12,000 minutes of telephone interviews and mystery shopping exercises.

The whole of the judging process was overseen by the Property Ombudsman; Christopher Hamer.

Robin was also invited to meet the Prime Minister, David Cameron, at a celebration of small businesses, following the firm's success.

For more information, visit CXG in Haverhill High Street or go to www.cxgonline.co.uk.

Event for business women on agenda

A MEETING for women in business is taking place at Haverhill Golf Club tomorrow.

The Venus Business Circle will hear about social media and how it can be used effectively in business.

The guest speaker for the event, held between 12pm and 2pm, will be Jenni Donno, of Social Media Success.

She has been managing social media accounts on behalf of clients, as well as training companies on how to use them since 2010.

She said: "There are many myths surrounding social media and how effective it actually is for business. There is no doubt that social media can be a time vampire and it is important to understand what your objectives are before you begin. Dabbling in it really doesn't work."

For more information contact haverhill@thebestof.co.uk

Charity gala set for this September

A CHARITY event, in aid of a hospice charity, has been organised for later this year.

Letting agents CXG are gearing up to host their own local Business Awards at a ceremony to raise money for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

The business is taking part in the Towergate Accumulator Challenge – and has had to turn £50 into as much money as possible.

Held at Haverhill Golf Club, the event is taking place on September 5.

It will include a three course meal, a charity auction and a business awards ceremony.

The company is seeking donations from local businesses towards the auction.

For more information visit CXG on Haverhill High Street.

the GUIDE

Ladysmith Black Mambazo

■ Cambridge Folk Festival 2014, Thursday, July 31, to Sunday, August 3, at Cherry Hinton Hall. SOLD OUT. For more information visit cambridgefolkfestival.co.uk.

Albert Mazibuko is the only original member left in legendary South African group Ladysmith Black Mambazo. Gearing up for Cambridge Folk Festival, the singer talks to ELLA WALKER

ALBERT Mazibuko isn't entirely sure whether he's been to Cambridge Folk Festival before.

You can't really blame him; the 66-year-old has been touring the globe with South Africa's greatest musical export, Ladysmith Black Mambazo, since 1969. That's 45 years of festival and concert performances, and Cherry Hinton is nice, but let's be honest, for a guy who's travelled with Nelson Mandela (more of which later), it's not exactly worthy of a spot in his all-time highlights.

Born Mdlletshe Albert Mazibuko in 1948 in the town of Ladysmith in South Africa, three hours west of Durban and three hours east of Johannesburg, he was the eldest of six brothers and dropped out of school aged 8 to work on his father's farm. Years of manual labour followed, including a stint at an asbestos factory, before he signed up to his cousin's fledgling a cappella group.

They took their name from their hometown Ladysmith, with Black referring to oxen, the strongest of their farm animals; and Mambazo, the Zulu word for a chopping axe, to symbolise the group's capacity to "chop down" any singing rival foolish enough to take them on. In the end though, they became so good they landed themselves a record deal in 1970 and got banned from singing competitively; they were too in demand as bona fide artists.

Their popularity was as much down to talent, charm and modesty as their commitment to preserving South Africa's musical heritage, drawing largely on traditional isicathamiya music (pronounced "is-cot-a-ME-Ya"), that came out of the dire conditions to which black South African miners were historically subjected.

Albert, humble, sweet and softly spoken, has seen the group develop and change, as old members moved on and new ones filtered in. "You know, the different members have been tremendous all these years because when we start, the music, you want it to encourage people to work together and be strong and then where the time goes in, we have to put our music [out there] to encourage people not to fight one another but fight the system that was bad for everyone in South Africa," he says thoughtfully.

"When the freedom was achieved in South Africa, we started to sing about the celebration. Now we are celebrating what has been achieved by the people in South Africa and we are still encouraging people that working together, it's the best thing in the world."

One of the greatest things to have ever happened to the group was when they were invited to accompany Nelson Mandela and Frederik Willem de Klerk, who brokered the end of apartheid, to Norway in 1993 to receive the Nobel Peace Prize.

"That was the highest of the highlights for me because when we were there witnessing these two leaders they were accepting the peace for our country," Albert recalls. "We were asked to perform at the ceremony and also at the celebration but to be in the ceremony was the greatest honour for us."

"Mandela requested us to sing there and even the song that we should sing, so he chose two songs and then we have to combine these two songs to make the length of four minutes, the time that we were given, and after we were finished those two songs, we stood up, he say 'Power, Black Mambazo'.

After that, what can there possibly be left to achieve?

"I still like to work with young people," he muses seriously. "Just to encourage them, tell them there's nothing gonna come easy in life but you got to dedicate yourself and then you commit yourself and then you do what you believe in, and then you do it.

"By doing that you can achieve anything."

The group are a case in point, just this year they won their fourth Grammy Award for Best World Music Album with Live: Singing For Peace Around The World, and neither the group, nor Albert, shows any signs of taking a rest.

■ Ladysmith Black Mambazo will return to Cambridge on Saturday, October 4, for INALA – a Zulu ballet, at Cambridge Corn Exchange.

The Bard: act II

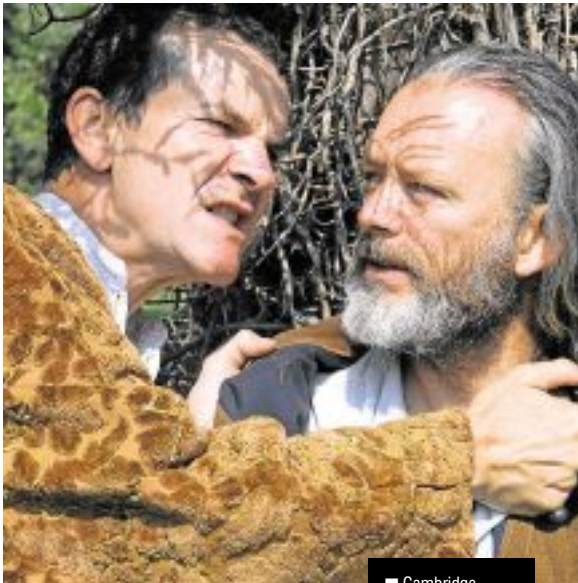

GRAB a blanket, a bottle of wine and your bodyweight in snacks and settle down to one (or more) of four Shakespearean dramas as the second half of Cambridge Shakespeare Festival kicks off.

The annual extravaganza is in full swing and staging performances outdoors at Robinson, King's, Trinity, St John's and Homerton College gardens.

Entry to the gardens is usually banned to non-students, so this is a chance to skip past the gates without breaking in – and the gardens are just so darn pretty!

From July 7-26 Richard II, Pericles, A Midsummer Night's Dream and As You Like It all showed to much general approval, now it's the turn of Othello, Twelfth Night, The Merchant of Venice and The Taming of the Shrew from July 28-August 23.

That means evenings spent with general Othello as he faces jealousy and wickedness, mad love and merriment in Twelfth Night, a struggle over a pound of flesh in The Merchant of Venice and a battle of the sexes in The Taming of the Shrew.

Latest news and events from

■ On the cinema front we have POSTMAN PAT: THE MOVIE (U) today at 2.30pm. There's great excitement in Greendale when a top TV talent show comes to the little rural town. When Pat gets up to do his turn he reveals an amazing singing voice. Tonight at 7.30pm, with a stellar cast including Nicole Kidman, Tim Roth, Derek Jacobi and Robert Lindsay, we have GRACE OF MONACO (PG). This is the story of former Hollywood star Grace Kelly's crisis of marriage and identity during a political dispute between Monaco's Prince Rainer III and France's Charles De Gaulle, and a looming French invasion of Monaco in the early 1960s. Includes some subtitles. Finally JERSEY BOYS (15) is showing tomorrow at 7.30pm – director Clint Eastwood's vibrant, musically rich biopic of The Four Seasons.

■ Fans of the East Coast boys, shouldn't miss the stage show BIG GIRLS DON'T CRY - A Tribute to Frankie Valli and The Four Seasons on Friday 12 September 8.00pm.

■ This week sees the return of Haverhill Town Council's super popular free tribute concerts. On the Market Square on Saturday 2 August at 7.30pm there will be tributes to

- Boybands Legends
- A Night at the Movies
- Madonna
- Robbie Williams
- Lady Gaga
- Olly Murs

On Saturday 16 August at 8.00pm, you can boogie on down to

- Magic A Kind of Queen
- Magic A Kind of ELO

Haverhill Town Council is also repeating the success of its Community Fun Days this summer. On each day there will be a variety of fun things to do such as trampolining, climbing, sports equipment, theatre, music, games and workshops. All the community fun days are free and will take place in all but the very worst of weather.

GUARDIANS OF THE GALAXY

(12A, 128 mins)

FROM its visually stunning opening set to the funky strains of Come And Get Your Love by Native American rock band Redbone, Guardians Of The Galaxy lends the Marvel Comics big screen universe a delightful retro twang.

The sardonic anti-hero is seldom parted from his Walkman and he inspires his cohorts to greatness with repeated references to Kevin Bacon and Footloose.

As the slick special effects attest, the budget for this intergalactic romp is big – so too are the laughs courtesy of director James Gunn and co-writer Nicole Perlman.

The opening sequence affectionately nods to Raiders Of The Lost Ark and when the mystery surrounding the film's fabled treasure is revealed, the space cowboy casually notes the trinket has "a shiny suitcase, Ark of the Covenant, Maltese Falcon vibe".

Gunn doesn't skimp on the spectacle – if anything, a couple of the outlandish set pieces are too long – but he adds a comic twist to each deafening blast of pyrotechnics.

Thus a centrepiece prison break is underscored by Rupert Holmes' 1979 hit Escape (The Pina Colada Song) and when the anti-hero barely escapes death in his spaceship and an extra-terrestrial girlfriend stumbles up from the hold, he looks at her with embarrassment and confesses, "I'm going to be honest with you. I forgot you were here".

Abducted from his parents as a child and raised by thieves led by blue-skinned tyrant Yondu (Michael Rooker), Peter Quill (Chris Pratt) is a thief for hire, who steals a mystical orb sought by sadistic warlord Ronan (Lee Pace) and his army of Sakaarans.

Peter evades Ronan's clutches and eventually aligns himself with a motley crew of mercenaries comprising green-skinned assassin Gamora (Zoe Saldana), genetically engineered raccoon Rocket (voiced by Bradley Cooper), his tree-like sidekick Groot (voiced by Vin Diesel) and vengeance-seeking warrior Drax the Destroyer (Dave Bautista), whose entire family was slaughtered by Ronan.

When Peter learns the orb is an ancient artefact with the power to destroy the universe, he must put selfish desires to one side to repel Ronan and his underlings including fearsome intergalactic hunter Korath (Djimon Hounsou).

Guardians Of The Galaxy is a blast. Pratt brings swagger and dry wit to his emotionally wounded hero, while Saldana adds sass and sex appeal to her otherworldly assassin.

Bautista is marvellous as the hulk who takes everything literally – "Nothing goes over my head, my reflexes are too fast" – but almost every scene is stolen by the computer-generated double-act of Rocket and Groot.

Cooper voices his feisty gun-toting furball with a wonderful blend of defiance and sarcasm, and breaks our hearts when it seems that he might be separated from his beloved sidekick forever.

Cameos from Benicio Del Toro and Glenn Close hint at a wider canvas of political intrigue that director Gunn will be keen to explore in a sequel star-dated for release in 2017.

Allotments facing threat

THIS summer, during National Allotments Week, many gardeners will be flying the flag for all those who love their allotments with commemorative events and grow-your-own celebrations.

But the event organiser, the National Allotment Society, is also promoting a much more serious message, highlighting the need to strengthen the protection for our remaining allotment sites and emphasising the benefits allotments bring to people and the environment.

Reports vary as to how many allotments there are in the UK today, with estimates ranging from 150,000 to 300,000.

In 1996 there were four people waiting for every 100 plots, but reports claim that has risen to 57 today, as the economic downturn and television programmes such as Gardeners' World and The Big Allotment Challenge have encouraged people to try self-sufficiency.

Allotments are protected by legislation, so if a statutory site – bought by the local council to use specifically for allotments – is sold off, the council is obliged to provide a replacement plot. However, what sort of site it is replaced with may be an issue for gardeners.

Di Appleyard, the society's marketing manager, explains: "Moving an allotment site could mean dismantling thriving, socially cohesive allotment communities that, as recent research has shown, are situated on land that is high in bio-diversity with healthy soil, producing a significant amount of locally grown food.

"Although legislation dictates that the plot holders must be offered an alternative growing space, it does not take into account the historical value and sense of place of the site or the damage that is done to the existing social networks. This element needs to be recognised and existing allotment sites should be valued and protected from disruption."

The real threat to plot holders, it seems, lies in the loss of council-owned land classed as a temporary site – which the council has claimed for something else, such as a school or a cemetery, but on which allotments have been built as a temporary measure.

"In such cases, plot holders should get the land registered as a community asset, which will give them a level of protection," Appleyard advises.

by Hannah Stephenson

"A lot of councils have been offloading allotments to groups of plot holders to self-manage. Locality, a network for community-led organisations (www.locality.org.uk) is a good starting point if you need help doing this."

The society is concerned that the recent relaxation of the planning regulations, along with the pressure on local councils to build much-needed new homes, may result in more councils opting to sell allotment land rather than allocating previously used land for that purpose.

"Don't wait for the rumours to start that an allotment in your area is going to be sold off to make a car park. Form an association or get together with other sites to get involved in a local plan. It's hard for a national organisation to lobby and change things because it's down to local councils to make their decisions about planning and development. Unless the community gets involved in it at an early stage, then it's probably too late," she adds.

"An allotment association can be a really dynamic group, keeping allotments in the public eye, lobbying councillors and organising fund-raising charitable events."

■ National Allotments Week runs from August 4-11. For details go to www.nsalg.org.uk.

Hyundai's 'stunning success' in Brazil

HYUNDAI, an Official Partner of the FIFA World Cup, has released its 'World Cup in Numbers' infographic showing how the brand helped to create the most 'social' tournament of all time (pictured left).

In the UK, Hyundai partnered with Copa90 – the largest independent YouTube football channel – to deliver content for fans all over the globe. With the help of the channel's presenters Maya Jama and Tom Deacon 9PICTURED), Hyundai and Copa90 brought the spirit of Brazil to Britain.

Through this partnership, Hyundai and Copa90 were also able to make two very deserving charity workers' dreams come true by giving them a ticket to the 2014 FIFA World Cup Final.

The first ticket was given to Philip Veldhuis. Philip founded the Favela Street programme in Rio de Janeiro. The programme works throughout some of the toughest favelas in the city of Rio and uses football to help teach life skills and confidence to local children who are at risk of the streets.

Philip said: "For me it was a once-in-a-lifetime experience. My mind was blown."

The second person to receive a World Cup Final ticket was Dhyka, the captain of the girls' team for the Favela Street programme. Dhyka comes from a tough favela in the north of the city and is an inspiration to the girls she coaches. She said that the World Cup final was "one of the best days of my life".

On the ground, Hyundai provided 1,021 cars and vans to transport officials and 176 football players were transported to games by Hyundai buses. Hyundai Fan Parks were built in five cities for people to enjoy the matches.

Green light for 50mph lorries on rural roads

THE AA has welcomed a Government decision to raise the speed limit for lorries on rural roads from 40mph to 50mph which Brake has condemned.

AA president Edmund King said: "This seems like a common sense move. Every driver has probably experienced being stuck behind a lorry travelling at their legal 40mph limit on a single carriageway main road with a national default speed limit of 60mph for cars."

Julie Townsend, deputy chief executive for Brake, the road safety charity, said: "We are disappointed and concerned by this announcement. Our own survey has just revealed the worrying extent of dangerous fast driving on country roads. We should be taking steps to address this, through driver education, lower speed limits and better enforcement. We are concerned for rural communities already blighted by fast traffic and for those who want to safely enjoy the countryside on foot, bike or horseback. This threatens to make these problems worse."

The Government is also consulting on increasing the speed limit for lorries on dual carriageways from the current 50mph to RURAL ROADS: Seriously though, is 50mph a good idea really?

60mph.

Mr King said an AA/Populus poll showed 81 per cent of drivers did not know the legal national speed limit for lorries on single carriageway main roads.

He went on: "So it is no wonder other drivers get frustrated, perhaps thinking the lorry driver was just being awkward, lost or was trying to save fuel."

"Smoother traffic flow also provides some economic benefit by improving journey times. We appreciate concerns about letting lorries travel faster but a more realistic limit should lead to better compliance by all."

Announcing the change, which affects England and Wales, transport minister Claire Perry said: "We're doing all we can to get Britain moving and boost growth. This change will do exactly that and save our haulage industry £11 million a year."

"Britain has one of the world's best road safety records and yet speed limits for lorries have been stuck in the 1960s.

"This change will remove a 20mph difference between lorry and car speed limits, cutting dangerous overtaking and bringing permitted lorry speeds into line with other large vehicles like coaches and caravans."

Geoff Dunning, of the Road Haulage Association, said: "This decision will be strongly welcomed by hauliers and their drivers."

The change in speed limits will come into force in early 2015.

Fiesta is UK best seller – ever

THE Ford Fiesta has become Britain's all-time top selling car.

Ford said Fiesta sales had now topped 4,115,000, taking the model past the previous record holder, the Ford Escort.

First launched in 1976, and initially made at Dagenham in Essex, the Fiesta has led the small-car sector in the UK for 27 of the 37 years and has been Britain's annual best-selling car since 2009 when it overtook the Ford Focus.

A total of 4,105,961 Escorts were bought in the 32 years it was on sale in the UK from 1968 to 2000.

Ford Britain chairman and managing director Mark Ovenden said: "The Fiesta has gone from strength to strength and today's car combines style, value, driving dynamics and remarkable technologies."

THE FORD FIESTA: All-time best seller

Ford said today that it would now take more than 80 modern-day Fiestas to generate the nitrogen oxide emissions of a single 1976 Mk1 model.

BMW lines up the X4

THE new BMW X4 combines the hallmark features of the X family with the sporting elegance of a classical coupé, resulting in BMW's first Sports Activity Coupé (SAC) for the premium mid-size segment.

The new BMW X4 follows in the footsteps of the BMW X6, visually combining the character of a Sports Activity Vehicle (SAV) with the sporting elegance of a classic coupé to create an unmistakable presence on the road.

Based on the same platform as the BMW X3, the BMW X4 displays a sporting character of its own. The large air intakes positioned on the outer edges of the front end and the character lines in the front apron lend the X4 a more muscular and agile appearance. This lowers the car's visual centre of gravity, signalling its sharper dynamics. The effect is further enhanced by the fog lamps sited below the signature twin headlights.

The BMW X4 has a load capacity of between 500 and 1,400 litres which, thanks to the standard 40:20:40 split-folding rear seats, can be used in a wide variety of ways. Everyday usability is further enhanced by the standard-fit automatically opening tailgate.

From launch the new BMW X4 will be available with a choice three diesel engines, all of which meet the EU6 standards. BMW TwinPower Turbo technology ensures that performance is maintained while fuel consumption and CO2 emissions are kept to a minimum.

The BMW X4 xDrive20d is powered by a newly developed 2.0-litre diesel engine with an all-aluminium construction. This power unit develops 190hp at 4,000rpm with a peak torque of 400Nm. As a result, the X4 xDrive20d requires just 8.0 seconds to sprint from zero to 62mph. The BMW X4 xDrive20d comes as standard with a six-speed manual gearbox but can be optionally specified with an eight-speed automatic transmission which brings fuel consumption down to 54.3mpg and sets the CO2 emission at 138g/km.

The 3.0-litre six-cylinder in-line engine in the BMW X4 xDrive30d, paired with the standard eight-speed Sport automatic transmission, returns a combined mpg of 47.9 while CO2 emissions are just 156g/km. These parsimonious emissions don't impact the performance with the engine outputting 258hp at 4,000rpm with a peak torque of 560Nm from as low as 1,500rpm, while it accelerates from zero to 62mph in 5.8 seconds.

The xDrive35d engine tops the BMW X4 line-up. The 3.0-litre diesel delivers 313hp and puts a peak torque of 630Nm on tap from between 1,500 and 2,500rpm. With its standard-fitted Launch Control, the X4 xDrive35d launches from zero to 62mph in a mere 5.2 seconds and goes onto a top speed of 153mph. However, the X4 xDrive35d still posts fuel consumption of just 47.1mpg and emits only 157g/km CO2.

The unparalleled suite of EfficientDynamics technologies also minimises the fuel consumption and emissions of the new BMW X4. Features such as Auto Start-Stop, Brake Energy Regeneration and on-demand operation of ancillary units are standard across the range. Optionally available are 17-inch aero wheels with reduced-rolling-resistance tyres, which reduce the CO2 emissions of the BMW X4 xDrive20d and xDrive30d by a further 7g/km.

The BMW X4 is in dealerships now, priced from £36,590 for the X4 xDrive20d SE.

General Vacancies

Feel like consultant of the year? You will.

We think the work we do and the way we go about doing it makes PBA a great place to work...and the judges of this year's NCE / ACE Consultants of the Year awards agreed.

As development and infrastructure consultants, our engineers, planners, scientists and property professionals tackle some of the greatest challenges facing our natural and built environments. A career at PBA will give you opportunities across a range of disciplines. PBA people see their careers flourish; many starting as technicians or graduates and progressing to be owners of the business.

Our established Cambridge office (formerly Hannah-Reed and associates) is expanding rapidly. We are seeking degree qualified candidates to fill a number of roles across all levels.

To apply simply email: hdoyle@peterbrett.com enclosing your CV and quoting the relevant reference code, alternatively go to: www.peterbrett.com/work-for-us

Senior / Principal Civil Engineer

Apprenticeships – Mechanical Engineering

The Babraham Institute is a charity which is world renowned for its research in life sciences to enhance lives and improve wellbeing. The Apprentice Mechanical Engineers will be based within Babraham Campus Services on the Babraham Research Campus.

There are two vacant positions and the successful candidates will spend some of their time on site working with and learning from experienced tradesmen and one or two days a week at a local college studying for the appropriate NVQ qualifications. The apprentices will be taught how to maintain a range of systems, including all building services heating systems, air conditioning, generators and plant rooms. Duties would typically include: repair, replace or install new installations; service and maintain systems; work with customers, contractors and employees; plan jobs and agree the schedule of work. Apprentices will be accompanied by a mentor on a day-to-day basis.

Applicants should have a minimum of five GCSE's, including Maths and English and be willing to follow a structured programme of study over the next three years. They should be able to demonstrate an active interest in the work area and be flexible and willing to work in a team.

Starting salary is £6.00 per hour. The Institute will also pay for college and exam fees. When there is no college sessions the apprentices are expected to work at the Campus.

Further information about the Institute can be found on our website. Application forms and further details are available electronically from our website (www.babraham.ac.uk), or by contacting our 24-hour Recruitment Line on 01223 496365, or e-mail: babraham.personnel@babraham.ac.uk. On applying please quote reference MEA-AB-C. Closing date for completed applications is Thursday 14th August 2014. Interviews will take place on Wednesday 20th August 2014. NO AGENCIES PLEASE

The Babraham Institute is a user of the disability symbol and is positive about disabled people.

The Babraham Institute receives strategic funding from the Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council and is an Equal Opportunities Employer.

Blackjacks crush Dukes to close in on top seeding

HAVERHILL Blackjacks closed in on the Southern Division's No 1 seeding for the play-offs with a 15-10 win at Richmond Dukes.

The tone was set from the moment lead-off hitter Blake Broekhove got his first triple of the season off the opening pitch.

Shortstop Simon Lee led the way for Haverhill with the bat, going 3 for 5 at the plate and hitting two RBIs, while pitcher Dylan Shephard again produced the goods when it mattered.

The Blackjacks took command of the match in the third innings, starting when Alan Symonds led off with a double before also scoring.

Rob Wood and Colton Ross, who has settled quickly into the team, crossed home, before rookie Alex Knight launched an RBI double to left field, showing his incredible potential with the bat. Steve Esdale was the beneficiary of the hit as he notched his second run.

That put them 8-3 in front and Haverhill continued to stretch their lead, making all but certain of the win by scoring five runs in the eighth innings.

Wood cracked a three RBI double with the bases loaded before crossing home plate himself, with Ross also scoring.

Richmond mounted something of a revival at the bottom of the eight, but Symonds drove home Broekhove to relieve any pressure.

Shephard then retired the Dukes batters in order to close out the game in the ninth.

Swing: Simon Lee hits a two RBI double for Haverhill Blackjacks.

Stokes and Spittle in Shrubberies triumph

JO STOKES and Theresa Spittle took victory in Haverhill ladies' latest major club competition, The Shrubberies.

The stableford pairs better-ball tournament saw Jo Stokes and lady captain Spittle take the title with a score of 40 points.

Pat Wellstead and Gill Richardson took second on countback from Mary Sail and Val Shipp, with both pairs scoring 37 points.

Haverhill's juniors contested the Waddup Windows Trophy, which had a medal competition for scratch to 28 handicappers and stableford competition for 28 to 36 handicappers.

James Iron's nett 61 saw him take the medal competition, beating Jason Carpenter (65) and Daniel Bentley (69).

Matthew Carpenter won the stableford competition with 44 points. Fiona Stokes was second on 36 and Thomas Turner third with 35.

Paul Abbott won the July IFF Challenge stableford with a score of 38, which also saw him win Division

Three ahead of Peter Young (35) and Craig Flemming (34).

Peter McLennan won Division One with 36 and Richard Norden took Division Two with 37.

Michael Elsworth won the July medal competition on countback from Gary Webb after both scored 65.

They also took first and second respectively in Division Two, with Ryan Greenwood third on 66.

Peter Driscoll won Division One on 65 and Division Three was won by Abbot on countback from Daniel Allen after both scored 67.

Judy Farren won the ladies' midweek stableford with a score of 37, while the Saturday competition saw Jackie Condon win with 38 points.

Haverhill ladies exited the Cranworth competition in the quarter-finals with a narrow 5-4 loss away to Felistowe Ferry at Thorpness.

The men's team also suffered a last-eight exit in the Stenson competition, losing 6½-5½ at home to Stowmarket.

The Curry Cup league match against The Essex ended with a 9½-8½ defeat.

> Triathlon

TWO Haverhill triathletes competed in the inaugural London BriK Triathlon on Sunday.

Jack Tappin completed the standard distance event, while Mandy Bunn completed the sprint distance race at Stewerby, near Bedford.

Tappin, 27, finished the race in 2hr 38min 52sec to shave more than 10 minutes off his best time for that distance and finish 90th out of 124 triathletes.

He completed the 1.5km swim in 33min

Impressive Tappin and Bunn are quick in BriK

6sec and the 40km cycle in 1:09:51.

Despite recovering from an Achilles injury suffered a fortnight before at the Norwich Triathlon, Tappin completed the 10km run in 50.56.

Bunn completed the sprint distance race in 1:19:14 to finish 29th out of 81 triathletes and the first in her age group (40-49).

She swam 750m in 17:10, then cycled 20km in 36:35.

Bunn completed the 5km run in 23:27.

Tappin now has a two-month break before next competing in the inaugural Cambridge Triathlon in September.

"It was a fast race and I was pleased with my cycle, averaging 19.4 mph," said Tappin. "I thought the run would be slow and though my Achilles didn't feel right I held up and managed to put in a strong run."

"Hopefully I can be fully recovered for Cambridge and better my time further still."
